

KILLING STAULA GIRL?

Antonio Santo After Telling Tale of Two Other Murders Declares He Slew Little Girl in Daisy Field at Dedham.

Anthony Sandoz, the fourteen-year-old boy who, after being arrested in Norwood to-day on charge of stealing a bicycle, and confessing to killing a boy, Frank Marino, in Brooklyn, N. Y., on March 1, this afternoon told the police officers that he had slain a little girl answering to the description of little Louise Staula, who was murdered near Rahway on Monday.

He had previously declared that he killed his two boy friends, one by stoning and the other with a knife. The Staula child was killed by stoning.

A dispatch to the BOSTON GLOBE from Boston says that no other crime as to which the boy confessed was committed there. The police of that city know nothing of the boy, they say.

Bingo was taken to Dedham to-day by the Boston Police. He was wearing a purple flower and the little girl was wearing a white flower.

"I am sorry I killed Frank. I just got over crying about it when I came here, and was going to confess to the priest tonight and have communion to-morrow."

Secretary Will Not "Sit on Lid" at Washington This Summer.

TO LEAVE CITY JUNE 20

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Secretary of State Root, who sailed today for his trip to all "on" in Washington this summer, replied that his plans were so arranged that he should leave Washington June 20 and spend a few weeks at a train to the establishment in New York state and then go to his farm near Upton for the remainder of the summer. According to reports it is to be understood that the secretary of State is going.

Secretary Root spent several weeks last summer at Middleburg Heights, Ohio, and during that time he was in the city of New York, N. Y., and declared that he had been greatly benefited by his stay.

The course of training prescribed by him is usually strenuous, involving much outdoor life, and is usually followed by a riding trip. In contrast to this rigorous training, the people coming and living from all over the country are doing up the place and find it a most beneficial and healthful experience.

Malady is another feature of life at the resort, and indoor and outdoor gymnastics are provided in the course of the training.

HETTIE GREEN LIVES AT THE HOTEL PLAZA; DINES FOR 25 CENTS AT A "QUICK LUNCH"

Snapshot by an American photographer of the world's richest woman leaving the place where she dines for a quarter.

Mrs. Green Has Quit Her Cheap Lodgings But Can't Forsake All Her Frugal Habits.

This is Hettie Green, America's richest woman, running out of a modern hotel, and she is leaving her cheap lodgings at the Hotel Plaza, New York, not very far from the Bowery, after having been a resident of a twenty-five-cent room for many years.

Despite the fact that Mrs. Green has just entered the first stage in an effort to break into New York society by moving from a humble $10 a month flat in the Bowery to a modern hotel, she has not entirely changed the frugal manner which has been largely responsible for the accumulation of her great fortune.

Each evening she sits at a beautiful dining room of the big new hotel, and she is surrounded by the finest of the city's most representative New York.

Still, beneath the glowing lights of huge chandeliers, she chats merrily with her daughter Elsie, and occasionally she comes with her the future which the mother hopes she will some day find in society, but the mother's daughter is not so sure.

At the Hotel Plaza, Mrs. Green has a room in the white-floored Park restaurant, which draws its clientele from the average hotel and the elite of the city.
